Title: Cerulean World Travel Vacations
Description: Why do you travel? The answer to this question is what drives the experiential traveler. And it's different for everyone: to feel the thrill of discovery, to re-engage with loved ones. To us, luxury travel means spending focused time with those we care about, discovering near or remote lands, while feeling we are privileged to do so like an insider in the process. Do you need a luxury hotel for a business trip or a quick getaway? Rather than book it yourself, let us do it for you and receive special amenities and VIP treatment that you would not otherwise. Many say that Africa is “a trip of a lifetime.” Yes, and no, actually. The first visit is often just the prelude, after which the continent beckons, again and again. As we progress through life, time seems to accelerate. As days turn into weeks, months and years, the importance of spending dedicated time with those we love could not be clearer. Some of us start our traveling lives as children, with our families. Others begin as adults, somehow “bitten” by the “travel bug.” There is perhaps no greater impetus.
