Description: Avoglow is an Australian Natural Cosmetics Company based in Sydney. AvoGlow produces and supplies Cosmetic products formulated from natural ingredients. We believe that cosmetics, skincare, hair care and nail care products can be formulated using simple and natural sources that are beneficial to skin, hair and nail.

AvoGlow is established by Dr. Amir Moezzi who is the chief chemist and nanotechnologist. Dr. Moezzi has been working on industrial projects and is expert in chemical process engineering. His vision in safe and healthy formulations in cosmetic industry was the aim to start some R&D and production of products that are beneficial to our skin, hair and nail. He believes in simplicity and efficacy rather than having thousands of products that are risk to our health. Currently market is flooded with thousands of products. Every producer wants to be different from the others, ignoring the fact that difference is not the only factor for sales. To produce different products, producers blend various ingredients sometimes without considering the risks of these ingredients to our health. Having seen various formulations with multiple unhealthy ingredients, Dr. Moezzi started R&D on products such as sunscreens, moisturizers and body exfoliators (scrubs). Dr. Moezzi oversees the R&D and production of the products using his chemistry and chemical engineering expertise to ensure that products are healthy to use with various benefits to our skin, hair and nail.
